Public Speaking Tips

August 2017

Words are not the only language. Use your body language!

Eyes

- Make eye contact
- Look at your audience, not your slides or notes
- Speak directly to one person at a time, shifting eye contact between sentences.
- Include everyone

Voice

- Speak loudly – make sure the back of the room can hear you
- Slow down – if you are gasping for breath, you are speaking too fast
- Use a “dramatic pause” to make a point

Hands

- Use natural gestures to emphasize your points
- Do not cross your arms or put your hands in your pockets

Posture

- Stand up straight
- Good posture shows confidence
- If you are behind a table or podium, do not lean on it

Feet

- Plant both feet on the ground (especially women who wear high heels)
- Do not shift from one foot to another
- Do not turn your back to the audience

Mind

- Being nervous is normal
- Stop thinking about yourself – focus on your audience
- Remember that your audience is interested in learning from you and about your idea
